General Guidelines for Fellowships

0

- FEBS Fellowships and Scholarships are intended to allow members of a FEBS Constituent Society to work in a laboratory in a different FEBS country from that in which they are normally working. Applications from developing countries in the FEBS area of interest may be considered, but full funding of the travel costs may not be given.
- Applicants (except those applying for a Summer Fellowship) should be a member of a FEBS Constituent Society. Applications from senior scientists will not be considered.
- FEBS Fellowships and Scholarships may not be used to complement, or as an extension to, another fellowship or scholarship; applicants should state whether applications have been submitted to other grant-awarding bodies for the same project and whether any other grants have been received towards the same projected visit.
- No grant will be given by FEBS to the institute receiving the Fellow or Scholarship holder to cover research costs or bench fees.
- FEBS does not recognise recipients of its Fellowships or Scholarships as agents or employees of the Federation and accepts no liability for their actions and activities, or for their health and safety. It is the responsibility of the Fellow or the Scholarship holder to ensure that the host institute is fully covered by the appropriate insurances.
- Medical and travel insurance are not provided by FEBS. Recipients of grants are urged to ensure that they are fully covered by the necessary insurances.
- FEBS is a non-governmental organisation and its Fellowships, Scholarships, Awards and Grants are not automatically endowed with any tax privileges. It is the responsibility of the recipient to pay any taxes levied by a national authority.
- Applicants should ensure that their application is complete. Incomplete applications or applications that do not correspond to the criteria defined in the rules governing the scheme for which they are applying will be rejected.
- Applications from candidates who have in any way modified the FEBS Application Form will immediately be rejected, irrespective of the quality of the application.
- Applications submitted will not be returned to the applicants.
