FEBS Fellowships

17

Overview

Our Fellowships Programme began in 1979. Since then it has come to be known as a highly competitive and prestigious programme. This is thanks to our rigorous selection methods and the package we offer fellows.

As part of our commitment to young scientists, we offer both Short-Term Fellowships and Long-Term Fellowships to members of our Constituent Societies, as well as Summer Fellowships to promising young students. We also offer Scholarships designed exclusively for members of our Constituent Societies in certain disadvantaged FEBS countries. Our fellowships and scholarships are intended to allow members of our Constituent Societies working in a FEBS country to work in a laboratory in another FEBS country. Because of their young age, applicants for a Summer Fellowship need not be members of a FEBS Constituent Society. For information on our Constituent Societies, go to the Our Members section of the website.

For general information about FEBS Fellowships please refer to the General Guidelines for Fellowships. For details on each Fellowship type, follow the links on the right of this page for detailed specific guidelines and application forms. Any outstanding queries on the FEBS Fellowships Programme can be sent to the FEBS Fellowships Committee via the Contact Us section of the website.

2020 Fellowship Applications

Application deadlines in 2020 are as follows:

- Summer Fellowships: 15 May 2020
- Long-Term Fellowships: 1 September 2020
- Short-term Fellowships and Collaborative Developmental Scholarships: applications can be submitted throughout the year.

Fellowship applications need to be submitted online at fellowships.febs.org
