Nominate

The Wiley Prize in Biomedical Sciences is intended to recognize breakthrough research in pure or applied life science research that is distinguished by its excellence, originality, and impact on our understanding of biological systems and processes. The award may recognize a specific contribution or series of contributions that demonstrate the nominee's significant leadership in the development of research concepts or their clinical application. Particular emphasis will be placed on research which champions novel approaches and challenges accepted thinking in the biomedical sciences.

The Wiley Foundation invites and encourages the nomination of exceptional scientists or research teams whose research has set the standard for excellence.

The evaluations of each nominee will depend on the information provided in the nomination packages. Therefore it is important that the nominations be as complete, current, and accurate as possible. Nominations that are missing any of the requested information or do not follow the guidelines below will not be considered.

Deadline for submission of nominations: September 30 of the current year
The nomination should be submitted by someone other than the nominee.
More than one nomination can be made from the same organization.
International nominations are encouraged.

When submitting a nomination by email, please include:

An introductory letter in the body of the email consisting of a short summary (150 words or fewer) describing the significance of the work in its field.
Attach: A minimum of three (3) supporting letters from colleagues familiar with the nominee's work.
Attach: The nominee's Curriculum Vitae. Contact information of the nominator.

Send to: wileyfoundation@wiley.com

The deadline to be considered for the following year is September 30th at 11:59 p.m. EST.
